LOCALETTES.

The Trinity bridge has been put in thorough repair. The public says "thanks, gentlemen."

The Magnolias will meet to-morrow evening at the residence of Mr. Rowan Tucker on the South side.

Cattlemen going to St. Louis to-night should go to the Union depot and register for sleeping-car accommodations.

Business on the Santa Fe has largely increased during the past ten days, both in shipping and receiving, in this city.

About seventy-five ladies and children attended the hop given by Prof. Willmetts and Mrs. Benton at Godwin's hall yesterday. Their dancing academy promises to be a great success.

For a company that has to face a sharp competition, the Bell Telephone company renders a very unsatisfactory service. In this case the promise of competition does not seem to prevent inadequate service for the money received.

In a collision which occurred between a runaway team and Turner & McClure's delivery wagon on Houston street yesterday a boy named Johnnie Whitaker was thrown from the delivery wagon and sustained very severe injuries. Dr. Brown attended the unfortunate boy.

The new jail will be open again to-day for inspection by the public between 2 and 5 o'clock p. m. In the morning the building will be closed, owing to some work that cannot be finished while people are passing through. A large number of visitors went through the building yesterday and were well paid for their trouble.

It is learned that the Fort Worth Street Railway company contemplate laying at an early day a double track on Main street, and run a greater number of cars than at present used. This would be beneficial to the traveling public by doing away with the long and vexatious delays now experienced. The cars would go down on one track and come up on the other, and the intervening switches would be done away with.

The GAZETTE is in receipt of a letter stating that Mr. J. K. Mulkey, assistant secretary of the Southern Immigration association, and representing the New York Daily Graphic and Louisville Courier-Journal, will be in Fort Worth in a few days for the purpose of preparing a series of illustrations of the city for the Daily Graphic, and writing a descriptive article to be printed in the Courier-Journal. Mr. Mulkey should meet with liberal and hearty encouragement here. The illustrations in the Daily Graphic will be almost invaluable in directing capital and immigration to the city. This paper is circulated all over the United States and is one of the best sheets in America. The GAZETTE is pleased to learn of the gentleman's mission and wishes him abundant encouragement and success in this city.

On the wall of the editorial room of THE GAZETTE building hangs an oil painting of a dog's head with the name "Grover" under it. It is an exquisite work of art and is almost as natural as life; the expression of the face seems an exact copy from a living dog, and the shading and coloring show genius of a high order. It was painted by a young lady of this city, whose name THE GAZETTE did not learn, but she has been teaching in this city for some time. The picture was sent from the Ladies' Exposition society and is worthy of a place in a choice collection of art. The great Landseer made his reputation by sketching animals, and in the picture of "Grover" the young artist seems to have caught some of the inspiration of the great master. The picture will be on exhibition at the New Orleans World's Fair.

Wedding Bells.

GUILE—RUSSELL.—Last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, in the midst of a number of friends, Mr. Samuel P. Guile and Miss Emma H. A. Russell were united in wedlock; Rev. Dr. George officiating. The groom is a conductor on the T. & P. railroad and is well and favorably known in this city, where he has many warm friends. The bride has lived in Fort Worth for a number of years and is one of the loveliest and most amiable young ladies ever in the city. They were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents from their admirers, and left for Mexico last night on a bridal tour, with the best wishes of a number of friends who bade them good-bye at the depot. They will make Fort Worth their future home.

SMOOT—MACFARLAND.—About 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning Mr. E. K. Smoot, city engineer of Fort Worth, and Miss A. I. MacFarland, also of this city, were married in the Presbyterian church and left on the early train for Galveston and New Orleans. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. George and was witnessed by a few intimate friends of the bride and groom. Mr. Smoot is a talented young engineer and most of the great public improvements of the city have been done under his supervision. He is a graduate of the Virginia Military Institute and has a brilliant future in front of him. The bride is a talented young lady and THE GAZETTE wishes the happy couple a full measure of happiness on the uncertain sea of matrimony.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Frederick Ward, who returns to Fort Worth after a triumphant tour through the state and in New Orleans, will appear on Tuesday night in John Howard Payne's tragedy, "Brutus, or the Fall of Tarquin," supplemented by Shakespeare's comedy, arranged in two acts, entitled "Katherine and Petruchio." No doubt this attractive bill will draw as large and as fashionable an audience as the one that greeted this favorite artist on his last visit.

"Brutus, or the Fall of Tarquin," the play in which Mr. Ward appears on Tuesday night, was written by an American, also famous for the authorship of "Home, Sweet Home." This tragedy is one of the best in the repertoire of the Ward company, and the notices from various esteemed contemporaries speak of him in the most enthusiastic terms and pronounce it a triumph of histrionic representation.

In the programme presented on Tuesday night Mr. Ward will be seen in two entirely diverse roles. Brutus, the tragedy, by John Howard Payne, gives Mr. Ward the opportunity to show the deepest pathos any actor is capable of. The play deals with the story of "The Fall of Tarquin" and the condemnation to death of Titus by his own father. In the play following, Mr. Ward appears as Petruchio, the very essence of bright light comedy.

Mysterious.

To the Editor of the Gazette.

The air around the college building on the corner of Seventh and Throckmorton streets was rife yesterday with whispered rumors of a matrimonial nature. The facts in the case are that the popular president of this thriving school has been under the strictest surveillance by his intimate friends. Of late it has been noticed that on several occasions he has brought up the subject of matrimony, showing that "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." The writer understands that the pupils all expect him to return from Dallas a "changed man." This is further confirmed by the fact that his last words were that he was off to attend a wedding. If these rumors be true, his friends take time by the forelock and wish him a happy spouse for life.

Greedy Corporations.

ART EXHIBIT

Of the Ladies' New Orleans Exposition Society.

This society will keep open its art exhibit to-day only. Remember the place, the west room on the ground floor of the opera-house. This is the first effort ever made in this city to show collectively what our ladies can do in the department of art, and it is reasonable to suppose that every good citizen would feel an interest in it and lend his encouragement and patronage. Feeble though the beginning is, it may be the germ that will develop in our city the love of beauty and culture.

The doors are open from 9:30 to 12 o'clock, and from 1 until dark. By paying the price of admission, 25 cents, one is entitled to a chance for the handsome washstand set donated to the society by Mr. Lake.

L. A. HOLT &

Dime Savings Bank

James Branch & Co.

Is now open for business at 211 Houston street, Fort Worth, Tex., occupying building with the Texas Pawnbroker.

This institution is established on sound business principles for the purpose of saving limited banking and commission business. It supplies a necessary long for the poor as well as the rich can be assisted in saving to the end that they may at some time become capitalists. Six per cent interest will be paid on all time deposits. Nickel upwards. Notes for governing the savings department will be printed in books furnished depositors.

We would refer by permission to the following gentlemen, citizens of Fort Worth: M. R. Loyd, President First National Bank; R. E. Maddox, City Assessor and M. S. Hall & A. Cart, Attorneys-at-Law; A. M. Britton, President City National Bank; M. Van Zandt, President Fort Worth National Bank; W. J. Boaz, President National Bank and Geo. H. Lov ng.

This institution, though patronized by all classes, especially appeals to the case, and others of small means: heads of families, single men, clerks, women, all can find a safe deposit for their surplus earnings, however small.

Handsome Suits.

When suits that are as handsomely fitting as if made to order can be bought at about one-half the price usually paid to merchant tailors for the same class of goods, no good reason can be given for paying fancy figures. No one disputes the fact that shoes are now made to fit the foot perfectly, but it is not so generally known that the same progress has been made in the manufacture of clothing, and yet it is none the less true. An examination of the fall and winter stock of Malone, Waller & Co. will convince the most skeptical that in the manufacture of clothing the acme of perfection has been attained, and that suits that are absolutely faultless in style and finish can be had outside of a merchant tailoring establishment. Malone, Waller & Co. carry an immense stock of clothing and gents' furnishing goods, and every article is made up with special reference to the wants of the Western trade. While they carry a line of goods that is not surpassed, if equaled, in Northwest Texas, they sell only for spot cash on the counter, and a strict adherence to this rule enables them to give prices that defy competition. Every man who contemplates the purchase of a suit will find it to his interest to examine their stock before his purchase is made.

Fakes & Co. have just received something new in the line of handsome parlor suits.
